

PRICE ONE CENT.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN WRITES OF THE COMING FIGHT AND PICKS CORBETT TO WIN. ---TO-MORROW'S SUNDAY WORLD

LAST EDITION CAUGUS DISOBEYED.

House Again Without a Quorum of Democrats.

Boutelle Tries New Tactics and Crisp Crushes Him.

New Absentees Enough to Make Up for Fresh Arrivals.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—There was determination in the eyes of the Democratic managers when the House met this morning. After three days' efforts to get the tariff bill up for consideration, which failed on account of Democratic absenteeism and the disaffection of a few members, they believed that the decree of King Caucus would bring the recalcitrants into line and afford the coveted quorum.

But although several additional Democrats had arrived during the night, almost as many had been called away on business, and despite the seeming confidence of the managers, the outlook was dubious.

Among those who went home last night were Messrs. Cadmus and Cornish, of New Jersey, and Sickles, of New York. Messrs. Cadmus and Sickles entertain objections to certain features of the Wilson bill.

Immediately after the reading of the Journal Mr. Catches called the roll. Mr. Boutelle was clamoring for recognition on the ground that he rose to a question of privilege.

The speaker sought to ignore him, but he was so persistent that he was finally recognized. He said he desired to call up his Hawaiian resolution, and explained that he made the point that while both questions were privileged, his resolution, involving the rights and dignity of the House, was of higher privilege than a mere report, which related only to parliamentary procedure.

He drew the distinction clearly between a privileged question and a question of privilege on reading rules and asked for ruling of the Chair.

Ex-Speaker Reed, who was on the floor, interposed to say that he hoped Mr. Boutelle's objection would be given full consideration and its correct determination was important for the orderly proceeding of the House.

Boutelle then, in conclusion, maintained that his resolution having been declared privileged, and not having been disposed of, was still before the House and had been before the House for the last three days.

The speaker declared that Mr. Boutelle misapprehended the status of affairs. He had called up his resolution, which the Chair had ruled was privileged. No quorum had appeared. The House had adjourned and the proceedings had fallen. Pending further proceedings the next day the report of the Committee on Rules had been called up and the previous question had been demanded. The rules cut off all proceedings pending action upon that report, except one motion, to adjourn. No quorum had appeared yesterday. The House had adjourned and the pending question this morning was that for the previous question.

Roll-call was ordered on the previous question.

In the midst of great confusion Mr. Boutelle shouted that he appealed from the decision of the Chair, but no attention was paid to him by the speaker.

"I protest against the whole proceeding," Boutelle yelled above the din. Then he retired to his seat while the Democrats laughed heartily.

The Republicans, continuing their filibustering tactics, sat silent in their seats during the roll call. The following Democrats also refused to answer to their names: Messrs. Sibley, Campbell, of New York; English, of New Jersey; Geary, of California; and Sperry, of Connecticut. The vote stood 100 to 0.

The Democrats still lacked twelve of a quorum, three more than the high-water mark of yesterday. Before the announcement, on motion of Mr. Catches, a call of the House was ordered.

SAN DOMINGO REVOLT OVER.

That American Schooner Was Fired On by Mistake.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram: SAN DOMINGO, Jan. 5.—Insurrection has been put down at Azua, San Domingo. Everything is quiet. United States interests not endangered. The United States schooner was fired upon owing to a mistake. Two men were wounded. Particulars have been sent by cable. Proceed for road to St. Thomas. Will return very soon.

(Signed.) HEYERMAN. Hoyerman is commander of the United States ship Kearsarge.

JOINT RULES AMENDMENTS.

Two Important Changes to Be Recommended at Albany.

A NEW POLICE CLUE.

Belief that Miss Barrowcliffe's Last Companion Is Known.

Supt. Smith Says He Needs No Information from the Victim.

The Music Teacher's Mental Condition Kept Secret.

The report that Miss May Barrowcliffe had refused to make known the name of or describe the man who assaulted her in a rooming house in Marion street last night was strengthened this morning by the announcement of Superintendent of Police Smith that he is no longer depending exclusively on information the victim may furnish to further the apprehension of her brutal assailant.

Hitherto the police have been waiting patiently for Miss Barrowcliffe's first intelligent words. The announcement that they had to abandon their masterly inactivity and haste, is as surprising as it is suggestive.

To friends of Miss Barrowcliffe the change of plan by the police is taken to indicate that she persistently refuses to talk of the assault. There is now little doubt that she is able to talk with a certain degree of intelligence, and that she has been questioned about the assault. The trained nurses who remain with her are working exclusively on Supt. Smith says he has a clue, however, but he has said the same thing every day for a week.

In speaking of this new clue he reluctantly admitted that he didn't think it amounted to much. It is rumored that the brand-new clue is a discovery of the name of the man who was last known to be with Miss Barrowcliffe. This gentleman is no doubt under surveillance, but in addition to that nothing is known. It is clear that the police have abandoned the theory of Miss Barrowcliffe's friends that her assailant was a tramp and are working exclusively on Supt. Smith's own theory that he was an acquaintance.

At the hospital this morning it was stated that Miss Barrowcliffe was improving. It was said that she would be able to give a description of her assailant.

John Vernon, the professor of music with whom Miss Barrowcliffe and Miss Dexter, her friend, boarded, was emphatic this morning in denying that he was the assailant. He said that he had been in the rooming house at the time of the assault, but he had not seen the man who had assaulted Miss Barrowcliffe. He said that he had not seen the man who had assaulted Miss Barrowcliffe.

Ex-Speaker Reed, who was on the floor, interposed to say that he hoped Mr. Boutelle's objection would be given full consideration and its correct determination was important for the orderly proceeding of the House.

Boutelle then, in conclusion, maintained that his resolution having been declared privileged, and not having been disposed of, was still before the House and had been before the House for the last three days.

The speaker declared that Mr. Boutelle misapprehended the status of affairs. He had called up his resolution, which the Chair had ruled was privileged. No quorum had appeared. The House had adjourned and the proceedings had fallen. Pending further proceedings the next day the report of the Committee on Rules had been called up and the previous question had been demanded. The rules cut off all proceedings pending action upon that report, except one motion, to adjourn. No quorum had appeared yesterday. The House had adjourned and the pending question this morning was that for the previous question.

Roll-call was ordered on the previous question.

In the midst of great confusion Mr. Boutelle shouted that he appealed from the decision of the Chair, but no attention was paid to him by the speaker.

"I protest against the whole proceeding," Boutelle yelled above the din. Then he retired to his seat while the Democrats laughed heartily.

The Republicans, continuing their filibustering tactics, sat silent in their seats during the roll call. The following Democrats also refused to answer to their names: Messrs. Sibley, Campbell, of New York; English, of New Jersey; Geary, of California; and Sperry, of Connecticut. The vote stood 100 to 0.

The Democrats still lacked twelve of a quorum, three more than the high-water mark of yesterday. Before the announcement, on motion of Mr. Catches, a call of the House was ordered.

SAN DOMINGO REVOLT OVER.

That American Schooner Was Fired On by Mistake.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram: SAN DOMINGO, Jan. 5.—Insurrection has been put down at Azua, San Domingo. Everything is quiet. United States interests not endangered. The United States schooner was fired upon owing to a mistake. Two men were wounded. Particulars have been sent by cable. Proceed for road to St. Thomas. Will return very soon.

(Signed.) HEYERMAN. Hoyerman is commander of the United States ship Kearsarge.

JOINT RULES AMENDMENTS.

Two Important Changes to Be Recommended at Albany.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—It was learned from most reliable sources last night that the Committee on Rules of both Senate and Assembly will, when appointed next week, make two important amendments to the joint rules.

One will abolish the engrossing rooms that now keep about twelve clerks employed, and with good type. The other will provide for a closure rule more strict than that heretofore in force.

CUT HIS OWN THROAT.

Daniel Sullivan, a Young Machinist, Commits Suicide in a Flat.

Excessive Cigarette Smoking Probably Unbalanced His Mind.

Charles Illig Leaps to Death from a Third Story Window.

Daniel Sullivan, a young man out of work, cut his throat with a razor this morning at 190 First avenue, where he boarded. He was taken to the Flower Hospital, where he died within a few minutes.

Sullivan was formerly employed as a machinist by the American Bank Note Company, and had been with the Company for twelve years. He is about twenty-seven years old and unmarried.

Two months ago he was dropped on account of slack work, and since that time has been very despondent, because he is unable to obtain any other job at his trade.

He boarded in Mrs. Dorsett's flat. Yesterday a friend met him on the street, and Sullivan told him that he was tired of life, and that he was sick, and his head troubled him a great deal.

This friend says Sullivan looked well, and acted cheerily, and he was afraid he meant to do himself harm.

He also says that Sullivan was a cigarette fiend, and smoked all the time. This morning he got up and dressed himself, and took his breakfast early in the morning, and then he went to work. Shortly after 8 o'clock one of the servants went into the front room and found Sullivan on the floor bleeding profusely from a terrible gash across the throat. It had been done with a razor, which lay on the floor by his side.

The police were summoned and an alarm sent out for an ambulance. Sullivan was nearly unconscious, and was unable to talk when the surgeon arrived.

Sullivan had several relatives in the city, and his aunt, Miss Sullivan, lives at 192 First avenue. It was said that he was a steady fellow, and was well liked by all who knew him. He was about twenty-two years old, and was a native of Ireland.

It is believed that his cigarette smoking had so affected his mind, and this together with his despondency over the loss of his position led him to end his life.

JUMPED FROM THE ROOF.

Illig Sought Death as a Relief from Pain.

Charles Illig, a lithographer, twenty-four years old, killed himself about 9:30 o'clock this morning, by jumping from the roof of the four story building at 100 Avenue A. Illig was suffering from inflammation of the lungs, and sought death as a relief from pain.

He was taken to the hospital, but he died before he could be removed. He was a native of Ireland, and was a steady fellow, and was well liked by all who knew him.

Illig then asked his wife to get him a drink of water. She left him to consume the water, and he died. He was a native of Ireland, and was a steady fellow, and was well liked by all who knew him.

Without stopping he ran to the front of the building, and jumped from the roof. He was taken to the hospital, but he died before he could be removed. He was a native of Ireland, and was a steady fellow, and was well liked by all who knew him.

TWO MORE PARK VICTIMS.

Actor and Bookkeeper Charged with Disorderly Conduct.

Frank Cane, an English actor, aged twenty-nine, and Frank P. Carrington, who said he was a Philadelphia bookkeeper, and who said he was a Philadelphia bookkeeper, were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court charged with improper conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

Both had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, and were charged with disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Court.

READY FOR SUICIDE.

Millionaire Michel's Son-in-Law in a Prison Cell.

He Is Accused of Robbing His Father-in-Law.

Downfall of a Once Prominent Figure in Society.

Leopold Michel, a Williamsburg man, whose wealth is estimated at from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, appeared in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day, to prosecute his son-in-law, Edmund Stern, who, he says, has robbed him.

There is more or less mystery about the case, for Mr. Michel would not state how much he had lost. He intimated, however, that the pecuniary loss of Stern extended back for a considerable period.

Stern is about thirty years old, and was at one time quite a figure in Williamsburg society. Of recent years he has rather gone down hill. A year ago his wife left him and returned to her father. Since then nobody has known where Stern has resided.

Mr. Michel holds a large number of mortgages on real estate. He alleges that Stern has gone about from one debtor to another and collected the interest money due on the mortgage, although he had no right to do so, and the real owner never received a cent of it.

Mr. Michel said this morning that out of a feeling of family pride he had refrained heretofore from proceeding against Stern, but so many complaints had been received that he felt that it was his duty to see that his son-in-law was punished.

"Why, he has victimized scores of my friends," he informed, "and Mr. Michel, and among those who mourn his smooth tongue is a court officer, who is out just now."

Detectives Holland and Dolan arrested Stern on Penn street, near Lee avenue, and took him to the court. He was nearly unconscious, and was unable to talk when the surgeon arrived.

Sullivan had several relatives in the city, and his aunt, Miss Sullivan, lives at 192 First avenue. It was said that he was a steady fellow, and was well liked by all who knew him. He was about twenty-two years old, and was a native of Ireland.

It is believed that his cigarette smoking had so affected his mind, and this together with his despondency over the loss of his position led him to end his life.

WHAT OF HAWAII?

Do Official Advises Confirm the News from Auckland?

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The State Department has declined to give the purpose of its advice which came by the Corwin, but it is now generally accepted that they fully confirm the cable received by the Associated Press from Auckland, Thursday night.

A theory which gains most support is based on the belief that the last instructions sent to Minister Willis contemplated further action by the Administration.

It is thought that the Queen, finally, seeing that her cause would be lost unless she accepted the conditions imposed by Minister Willis for her restoration, accepted them as contained in his published instructions, and notified him that she would grant amnesty to members of the Provisional Government if she again became Queen.

Minister Willis thereupon, it is believed, carried out his instructions and notified President Dole that it was the desire of the United States Government that the Provisional Government should surrender in favor of Liliuokalani.

COL. EDWARD HINCKEN DEAD.

Three Times President of the Produce Exchange.

Col. Edward Hincken, three times President of the Produce Exchange, and one of its oldest members, died at 12 o'clock this morning at his home, 157 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

Col. Hincken had been a pilot commissioner since 1876, and lived at 120 West William street, where he was taken sick while calling, last Sunday.

A Sample of American Weather Sent Abroad.

FIRE CAUSED BY EXPLOSION.

ALBANY THEATRE BURNED. SHOCKED HIS BRIDE'S AUNT.

A $17,000 Blaze in Thomas Foy's Paint Shop and Tenement.

Flames Spread to the Adjoining Building—Tenants All Rescued.

Three alarms were sent in for a fire that started in the cellar of Thomas Foy's paint shop, at 2620 Third avenue, at 11 o'clock this morning from an explosion.

Thomas Foy, who is the owner of the building, had the ground floor and cellar stocked with paints and oils. He went into the cellar this morning to take account of stock.

He returned to the store and had just entered when a terrific explosion took place, blowing off cans far out into the street.

A sheet of flame sprang up immediately and shot up through the inflammable stuff in the cellar, the great losses which were made to save any goods in the store below.

Four families lived in the house, and the fire was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT THE STATE'S CAPITAL CITY TO-DAY.

She Did Not Know Becker Had Married Her Niece.

Told Him to Go Home, but He Said He'd Stay All Night.

(By Associated Press.)

ALBANY, Jan. 6.—At 11:45 o'clock this morning a stage hand in the Albany Theatre saw a tongue of flame shoot out from under the proscenium arch. He ran to sound an alarm, but before he had reached the street the whole stage was in a blaze and before the fire apparatus arrived the structure was a seething mass of flames.

The building was four stories high and was looked upon as a tinder box. It was occupied on the ground floor by Driscoll & Co., grocers, and Charles Tiernan, liquor dealer.

So rapid was the progress of the flames, and so afraid were the police of the insecure walls, that, although the fire started in the highest corner of the building, no attempt was made to save any goods in the store below.

Together with the city building, the theatre occupied the whole block, and a small alley divided the two. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

The fire threatened the block opposite. The Albany Theatre Building was on fire, and was under control. Mr. Foy said he did not know how the explosion occurred. A gas jet was burning while he was in the cellar, but he said he turned it out when he left the cellar for the room above.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Terrific Explosion in a Power Mill at Rifton.

(By Associated Press.)

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 6.—An explosion in the glass department of the Laffin & Rand Powder Mill at Rifton this morning destroyed the structure.

Gardner Friedenberg, Solomon Friedenberg, Joseph Saunders, and a man named Kipp were killed.

Several others are injured. The force of the explosion was felt for miles around.

The health officials are doing every thing to stop the spread of the disease. Every school teacher has been instructed in the manner of detecting, and when school children exhibit the first symptoms, they are at once sent home, and the health officers are notified.

It is said that a few days ago an upturned canal-boat was found near that place.

MEASLES SPREADING APACE.

Three Times More Cases Reported Than Last Year.

According to the figures of the Board of Health, there is an epidemic of measles in this city. In the year 1892, 2,180 cases had been reported, as against 782 cases for the same period one year ago.

The health officials are doing every thing to stop the spread of the disease. Every school teacher has been instructed in the manner of detecting, and when school children exhibit the first symptoms, they are at once sent home, and the health officers are notified.

It is said that a few days ago an upturned canal-boat was found near that place.

MEASLES SPREADING APACE.

Three Times More Cases Reported Than Last Year.

According to the figures of the Board of Health, there is an epidemic of measles in this city. In the year 1892, 2,180 cases had been reported, as against 782 cases for the same period one year ago.

The health officials are doing every thing to stop the spread of the disease. Every school teacher has been instructed in the manner of detecting, and when school children exhibit the first symptoms, they are at once sent home, and the health officers are notified.

It is said that a few days ago an upturned canal-boat was found near that place.

MEASLES SPREADING APACE.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Terrific Explosion in a Power Mill at Rifton.

(By Associated Press.)

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 6.—An explosion in the glass department of the Laffin & Rand Powder Mill at Rifton this morning destroyed the structure.

Gardner Friedenberg, Solomon Friedenberg, Joseph Saunders, and a man named Kipp were killed.

Several others are injured. The force of the explosion was felt for miles around.